… a superb effort and one which tasted delicious already but which had a seam of nervy acidity which might propel it forwards for more than just one summer… There has been a gradual tightening up of Whispering Angel since the 2019 vintage and in 2021 there is a wonderful backbone to this wine from which the fruit is carefully draped. This is a more sophisticated wine than its crowd-pleasing predecessor. This, in turn, means that it is a foodier proposition, too, which is great news.

TOM CANNAVAN'S WINE-PAGES.COM 91 PTS

The 2021 Whispering Angel blends Grenache, Cinsault, Rolle, Syrah and Tibouren. It's always an extremely refined rosé, but this vintage seems to add an extra ounce of firmness and savoury, food-friendly character. It is aromatic, with pomegranate and fine raspberry and floral aspects, but an intriguing mineral salts nuance too. In the mouth it has that delicious freshness, quite vivacious with tart red berries and zippy citrus and, again, a stony, lightly salty and mineral finish.

WINE ENTHUSIAST MAGAZINE

This big-selling wine is impressively consistent, with its ripe red fruits and finely textured acidity and touches of spice. It is a lively wine that is ready to drink.

Pristine fruit and great acidity.

JAMESSUCKLING.COM 92 PTS

with pretty aromas of lavender, rosehip, strawberries, cherries and cloves. It's medium-bodied with crisp acidity and a supple, creamy palate. Perfumed and elegant. Drink now.

Bright almost pale. Elegant nose with fine floral character. On the palate wonderful dry and appetizing style with fine fruit and discreet spiciness, aromatic herbs and discreet salty minerality, convincing length - Markus Del Monego.

PINK.WINE

Salmon pink. Fresh fruit aromas. On the palate crisp, crunchy fruit, quite weighty. Good fruit, showing the citrus and crisp barely-ripe red berries typical of the coolness of the 2021 vintage the structure is mouth-wateringly crunchy.

JOANNA SIMON 92 PTS

Glowing pale salmon; drifts of almond blossom, rose, red berries, vanilla and exotic spice; fine-textured and finely structured palate with salted-almond and citrus peel length. Medium weight. A very impressive vintage for this giant in brand and volume terms from Caves D'Esclans.
