Description

In 1995, Tito Beveridge (yeah, that's spirit with Tito's Handmade Vodka! his real name) had the idea of building his own microdistillery, incorporating the boutique winery concept into the spirits industry. He acquired the first legal permit to distill in Texas and put his life savings into it, racking up 19 credit cards to build his own stills and condensers. Tito still makes his vodka by hand on the same land where he started it all in Austin, Texas and is proud to be an American, handcrafted brand. Share the remarkable story of a true American.
